Sometimes while driving, her warning lights are turned on randomly. (ABS, Exchange... Etc.) a few times your tachometer and speedometer are completely cut and stopped working, it happened to me while I was driving your car too. I used automatic wood and then I went to stop and touch and speedo just stopped for some reason. The car didn't stop though... Eg got off because I didn't know what's going on also, her airbag light comes all along and it dings a lot during speed fluctuations. Is that how he had problems with his Avengers? Thanks. · While I'm sure smarter people will come along and know the explanation/better, my guess is that the computer is taking a nap. · As Shurik said there may be a problem with the computer if you still have it under warranty, you should go to the dealership and check them to see what it could be. - That's or some kind of electrical issue. Talk starting · #4 · July 13, 2012 Thanks guys, I thought it was probably something electric too, but I was hoping someone at the forum had a similar issue so I could discover it was their problem. · Starter talk · #5 · July 14, 2012 Any else want to chime in? · Shot in the dark, but have you tried cutting negatively on the battery and letting it sit down while resetting the computer? I can't hurt and it may have benefits you can also take the car to Autozone or store other parts that do battery/intermittent testing, see if your charging system is operating properly. · I had this issue in my 2008 Revenge R/T. While driving all the warning lights in A/C will come cut and the tachometer and speedometer will go smooth. After a long diagnosis because the seller could not re-establish the issue it was determined that the PCM connection had broken. They replaced the connector and the subject did not return. · Hi my 2014 Dodge Revenge SA with only 8000 miles on it, 2 weeks of buying our ABS, breaking the light, etc... Bright, swing speedometer as well as smooth while we're doing 60, while this all happened the car kept running smooth. Also our headlights, interior lights, dash lights, almost everything turn on flicker. We took it to dodge representation and they said it was our short circuit break switch we picked it up and after a few hours it started to happen again. So if they tell you to tell them to check it out again. Also if anyone knows the fix and im going to mention that the PCM connection is broken to them on Monday.
